Subject: WLC: 0362/1

Larry,

I'm looking at WLC: 0362/1, which creates a biofuels production facility regulation review council. Given the deadline for completing the report and the temporary nature of the body, this could be drafted as a nonstatutory provision and it would make sense to me that it be drafted that way. Also, the body fits the definition of a committee:

15.01(3) "Committee" means a part-time body appointed to study a specific problem and to recommend a solution or policy alternative with respect to that problem, and intended to terminate on the completion of its assignment. Because of their temporary nature, committees shall be created by session law rather than by statute.

Do you see any problem with having this be nonstatutory?

Becky
